For those who dream of weekendng amidst the glamour of the Mediterranean or the energy of Uruguay yet dread the wasted day of travel, purchasing a vacation home in these far-flung destinations may seem tempting. However, a new crop of properties in the Western Hemisphere combines the allure of exotic locales with the convenience of a weekend getaway. We've listed these homes below, which all offer a luxurious lifestyle, jetlag not included.

If you love finding balance in India, purchase a second home at Amrit Ocean Resort and Residences in Singer Island, FL.

Based on Pantajali's 8 Limbs of Yoga, which was birthed in India, Amrit is designed to give residents the ultimate luxury in wellness through the incorporation of the Five Pillars: nutrition, fitness, mindfulness, sleep and relaxation. Merging Eastern traditions and inner science with Western luxury, all enhanced through incorporation of modern technologies and personalized programming, Amrit's location and design draws upon the essence of India with its pristine shoreline, serene beaches and a kaleidoscopic blend of cultures, sweetened with sun, sea, sand, seafood and spirituality.
